THE SHOPS with Sally

We did not discover the Pacific Ocean or anything like that on our second "scouting" expedition, but we did discover some specials at the Daly City Dress Shop that made us feel like Balboa in person. Guess what—for only $1.98, $2.98 or $3.98 you can buy right here at home a smart little street or afternoon dress in spun rayon, shantung, or washable silk—and all in the latest colors and fashions. And did you know (we didn't), that the Daly City Dress Shop specializes in personalized buying? Bring your problems in—(also your Mother) and buy her a really nice gift.

● We tried to tell the Shell man down at Hammer's Service station about it all, but he had a swell comeback with his extra-special tires that you can buy without even a down payment, if you have an honest face.

● Which reminded us that our own honest face was badly in need of skilled attention, so behold us emerging sometime later, refreshed and happy, from the Templeton Beauty Salon.

● From whence we went to the Nut Shop and emerged if possible even more refreshed and happy, with buttery home-made toffee bulging from every pocket.

● Department of Reassurance: Please don't worry about the effect of buttery home-made toffee on our new spring coat. It will (Continued on Page 2)

HOSPITALITY AND SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPERS

Hospitality and Sunday night suppers do go together, do they not? And just because of the fact that modern homemakers are bringing back much of the old-fashioned hospitality of olden days, modern homemakers are ever on the alert, ever seeking for recipes for unusual dishes that are easy to prepare, require a minimum number of cooking utensils and at the same time are unusually good to eat.

Today then, in this column, we are turning to some new versions of some of the old traditional recipes of the South for inspiration.

Shell fish abound in Southern waters, and some of the best known dishes of that locality are built around these foods. "Shrimps Galatoire" is an adaptation of one of these famous Southern recipes.

SHRIMPS GALATOIRE

2 5/4-ounce jars shrimp
3 tablespoons butter, melted
2 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
4 peppercorns, finely crushed
Dash of Tabasco sauce
1/4 teaspoon grated onion
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 cups top milk, scalded
1 large pimiento, chopped
1/2 cup chopped sweet pickles
3 cups steamed rice

Wash shrimps and remove black line along the back. Blend butter and flour; add seasonings and mix thoroughly. Add to milk in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add shrimps and cook 5 minutes longer. Add pimiento and pickles and serve in ring or nest of rice. Yield: 6-8 portions.

This trick of using mustard with shrimps is of Louisiana origin, where Creole cooks are masters of the art of seasoning. A whiff of garlic, a dash of peppery Tabasco sauce, and a whisper of piquant prepared mustard blend together to create a subtle flavor—the secret of which few can guess. The chopped sweet pickles add their own touch of distinction to Shrimps Galatoire and provide an interesting contrast of ingredient textures in the finished dish.

For a luncheon party or for a Sunday night supper Shrimps Galatoire may be served as the mainstay of the meal. Additional menu suggestions might include a fruit salad (served on shredded lettuce, with French dressing), hot, crusty rolls, coffee, small cakes, ice cream, and salted nuts. A completely satisfying meal, do you not agree?

Shrimps Galatoire may also appear in a dinner menu, if desired. For such a menu we suggest serving with the Shrimps Galatoire a clear soup with puffed crackers, celery, and olives. Follow this with the shrimps served in a ring mold of rice, buttered fresh asparagus, and hot rolls. And for dessert serve a Spiced Honey Brazil Nut Pie with plenty of fragrant, steaming coffee.

A HONEY OF A PIE

Who hasn't sung the praises of Southern Pecan Pie? Rich, smooth, and delicious, with its crunchy nut topping, it occupies a well-deserved place of honor in any list of famous foods.

This new Spiced Honey Brazil Nut Pie is first cousin to this old Southern favorite.

give us a lovely excuse to take the coat to the Beeson Cleaners and get our sweater cleaned. If you don't follow us, please turn to Beeson's ad on page 8.

• And while you're turning pages for exciting offers, better get the scissors and clip out Sam's shoe ad. It's as good as money in your purse. Sam is one of the finest cobblers in Daly City, and our editor feels pleased as punch to be able to make this special offer available to Shopper readers.

• Speaking of the Editor—yesterday he sent us to investigate a rumor that had been flying around town that Mr. Neumann at the Daly City Sheet Metal Works was offering a new washer and an electric ironer both for the amazing price of $69.50. And when we arrived, we found it was true in every detail—a lovely white family washing machine, and a ducky little ironer that weighs only 28 pounds and can be kept on a closet shelf when not in use, both for a price that would hardly pay a year's laundry bill. Mr. Neumann assured us that he was very glad to have inquiries and did not intend to use high-pressure salesmanship on people stopping in. (Our own guess is that he won't have to).

• Neither, we suspect, will the American Shoe company when word gets around of the long-wearing and good-looking men's shoes they are offering for only $3.95. John is so proud of his that he is planning to dress up and take us to the Daly City theatre.

• (Maybe we're jealous, but we can't help wondering if Eleanor Powell's fast new hulu dances in "Honolulu" have anything to do with John's sudden determination to see a show).

• Flash: Farmers Meat Market is featuring tender young veal at only 24c a pound. See their ad on page 5 for specials that will make you both hungry and thrifty.

• While you're shopping for shoes, don't forget to see the good-looking girls' and women's sport oxfords in fetching color combinations at Henry Warshawski's—and at the kind of a price ($1.00) that makes us feel not a (Continued on Page 7)

Notes
For the Kitcheneer

The delicate flavor of the honey, however, and the blend of spices used in this particular recipe contribute their own individual touch to this luscious pie, and all combine to create a delicately flavored whole. The Brazil nuts rise to the surface in baking to form a rich, chewy topping. Here is the recipe:

SPICED HONEY BRAZIL NUT PIE
1 cup honey
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 tablespoon vinegar
3 eggs, well beaten
1 cup coarsely chopped Brazil nuts
1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell
Combine honey, butter, salt, spices, and vinegar. Add eggs and beat well. Add nuts. Pour into pie shell. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 30 minutes longer.

Eleanor Powell Used Prize-Ring Methods To Train for Arduous "Honolulu" Dances

Eleanor Powell and Robert Young in a scene from "Honolulu"

Eleanor Powell works as hard in preparation for her screen dances as a prizefighter training for a championship fight. Her close-ups for "Honolulu," the new musical extravaganza, opening this Thursday, May 11, at the Daly City theatre, were taken before she completed her dance routines. During the period of dance rehearsal and the actual filming of the numbers she lost fifteen pounds.

After a prizefighter trains all day he retires early. Not so with Miss Powell. She has to match her daily tap dancing with ballet dancing at night. Why? Well, that's her system for keeping her legs shapely. Taps would tend to make her legs "stringy," while ballet rounds them out.

Her rehearsal hall could be mistaken for a fighter's training camp. Rubbing lotions line the walls, the dance floor is roped off so that Miss Powell knows her stage space. It resembles a boxing ring. When she finishes her dance she retires to a corner, sits on a chair and relaxes, while her legs and arms are rubbed. An attendant hands her a bottle of water and another drapes a towel around her shoulders.

Her first picture in Hollywood was delayed because they filmed the dancing numbers in the sequence in which they appeared in the script. But they were not able to match the close-ups after a dance routine because of Miss Powell's loss in weight.

In "Honolulu," Miss Powell performs a series of intricate new dances and also an imitation of Bill Robinson's famous stair dance. Robert Young plays the male lead in a dual role and the stellar lineup includes George Burns and Gracie Allen.

Second feature on the new bill will be "Yes, My Darling Daughter," which boasts one of the greatest comedy casts ever assembled. The romantic leads are taken by Priscilla Lane and Jeffry Lynn.

Late Styles Turn To Tailored Suits

In the suit brigade for spring are large groups of very strictly tailored suits which have slightly longer than hip-length jackets and skirts that usually are gored or plaited. Jackets bound around with braid are frequently shown with such suits.

They come in smooth twills or hard woolens, and are rather masculine-looking, but go with blouses which are so sweet, feminine, and dainty that they become girlish in effect.

If you have a crepe or wool frock which you would like to perk up for spring at a minimum of expenditure, invest in a crisp collar and cuff set of pique.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

"YOU should have heard the remarks George made when I bought a daybed for our bedroom," writes Gertrude. "About who wanted to lay around in the daytime anyway, and besides that one was too fancy for him ever to feel at home with."

"Oh, it is a beauty—upholstered in tufted brocade of old French blue—I blew myself to it with a birthday check from my rich uncle. The catch now is that George has calmly taken possession. He settles down with a book or his paper right after supper, and just try to budge him. Being a good wife I don't remind him of his remarks."

"But it's turning out to be a case of the brass andirons—it makes the rest of the room look dowdy. So I'll have to do a bit of redecorating. The walls are all right—they're a pale mauve-gray, but the rug is definitely out, an old worn blue figured Axminster that's seen better days. What rug or carpet would you advise in its place?

"The furniture is all right basically—Sheraton mahogany," continues Gertrude's letter, "but we definitely need a new easy chair, and I'll replace spread and curtains. But what would you suggest? I don't feel up to the job. This is a large room that we use and enjoy a lot."

I'd like to see a carpet in as near as you can get to that same mauve-gray tone as the walls. It would make the room seem very graciously spacious. Then perhaps a flowered chintz in old rose with blue for spread and easy chair—how would a slender wing chair do for this? At the windows have eggshell nylon made to fall to the floor in organ pipe folds and tailored at the top to draw back and forth in state. Then why not collect lovely old fans and frame them for the wall.

As for the daybed—aren't men the ones! They all like comfort, and most of them like silks and satins a lot better than they'll ever admit.

A 'Blue Ribbon' Kitchen.

Lillian J. took a notion to do her kitchen over. And before I knew she was really serious about it, she called me up and invited me to come over and have a look-see. I didn't need a second invitation—because I'm always eager to add interesting kitchens to my "collection."

If I'd had a blue ribbon, I'd have certainly pinned it on Lillian's masterpiece. In the first place, it seems so much more friendly than most modern kitchens, yet it's not sacrificed any of the modern conveniences. The walls are painted pale green and she gave the old linoleum a coat of deeper green paint—then several coats of floor varnish. The curtains are crisp and white, then across the top she lured her husband to make a scalloped valance of plywood. This she painted orange, then stenciled peasant motifs on it. A useful but forlorn looking old chest of drawers she painted spanking white with Painted white with accents of orange. On these shelves she keeps her everyday dishes, bright pottery and some odd pieces of copper. Even her stove and refrigerator got peasant motifs painted on their gleaming white fronts. The chairs are white with orange seat pads.

But here is the crowning touch. Lillian has put in a "plate rail" all around the kitchen walls and attached a ruffle of orange cotton to it. On this she has an assortment of old-fashioned kitchen utensils as well as any unusual foreign utensils she can lay her hands on. There's an old coffee mill, for instance, and an iron waffle griddle, not to mention some bright enamel trays that a missionary friend in Korea sent her.

So now you may depend on it, Lillian's kitchen is one of the showplaces of the house. Yet it's as up-to-the-minute in equipment as anybody's—she even has an electric dish washer.

Spring Costumes In White Accents

Striking Venture Fashion Is Proclaiming.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There is always in each season some one fashion that stands out pre-eminently. This year it is a striking venture that fashion is proclaiming far and wide. To be explicit the big idea just now is that of white accents with the costume done in a dramatic spectacular way. Just to give some specific idea let your mind vision a navy costume with which is worn a navy hat that is almost hidden under a mist of white dotted veiling brought over the crown down to the throat where it ties in a huge bow. White gloves, white boutonnieres and white collar and cuff set or white gilet or bib must be added. White, frilly white petticoat too, if you please, and so planned that its eyeleted embroidered frills peak from under the wide hemline of the navy swing skirt.

White hats with dark costumes are definitely smart this spring, either of straw, felt, ribbon or fabric. These hats are apt to be trimmed in black tulle or be banded or crowned in stripes matching a gay nonchalant handbag of stripes.

There's no end to the story of frothy white touches for the costume. The biggest sensation, perhaps, is the dainty white lingerie "baby blouse." Everybody's going to wear them, and some are just too sweet for words, with their fine, tiny tucks and lace edgings adding pretty frilliness all the way through.

It doesn't matter how severe your new black or navy tailored suit or your classic basic dark frock may be dolled up with white accents, collars, cuffs, jabots, gloves and so on, it takes on infinite feminine charm.

Pork always should be cooked thoroughly done to bring out the rich delicious flavor which everyone likes.

Buy Wash Fabrics That Are Fast Color, Non-Shrinkable

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT IS no wonder that smart cottons and other wash materials have attained to dizzy heights of style prestige, which is especially true this season, for they are amazingly lovely and versatile, and true to every occasion, formal or informal.

However, their attractiveness is by no means their chief lure, for the really grand and glorious thing about most modern washables is the promise they carry of being both fast color and non-shrinkable. Modern science has worked miracles in this particular. Which should be particularly encouraging to mothers who are outfitting little daughter with pretty new dresses for spring and summer. For peace of mind it is only necessary to demand, when buying wash materials, the kinds that carry non-fade and non-shrink assurance.

The materials that go to make up the charming dresses pictured take on added interest when you know they will not fade neither will they shrink. For everyday wear in classroom and happy carefree hours of the day the shirtmaker dirndl type dress shown to the right couldn't help but satisfy the pride of most any little style-alert girl. It is made of a sanforized-shrunk slub broadcloth in a smart triple stripe design, with white collar and trim on the sleeves.

Shopping in wash-fabric sections these days is as refreshing an experience as walking through gardens abloom with spring flowers. The Swiss voile florals especially make you feel just like that, they are so realistically flower-patterned in colors that are breathtaking in beauty. If there is one sort of frock more than another that will make a dainty little maiden look her prettiest it is a dress of flower-printed sheer and to prove it the adorable child to the left in the picture says invitingly, "look at me!" She is wearing a dress of fairyspun lawn, which, being pre-shrunk, will wash like a dream, and what's more the beautiful print is fast color, assured by the use of vat-dye. You can get these dainty, sheer lawns in the newest color schemes, both in flowered and conventional patternings. The shops show dresses made up that are surprisingly inexpensive, and so pretty you will want several.

Which all goes to show the chic, the charm and the dependable wear-

Cake Frosting Is Matter of Taste

Recipes Vary From Simple Kind to Boiled Variety

By EDITH M. BARBER

YOU may call it icing or frosting—that sweet topping which goes with cake the way butter goes with bread. I prefer the latter term, because the word icing is associated in my mind only with white. As it happens chocolate frostings are fully as popular as shiny white toppings with the golden brown of caramel or coffee a close second. For special occasions, frostings are colored delicate pink, green or yellow without regard to the flavor of the basic frosting.

Recipes for frosting vary greatly from the simplest made with velvety confectioners' sugar blended with hot water, cream, egg white or softened butter, to the more elaborate "boiled" frostings. Boiled frostings are of several types. One of the most popular is that made with granulated sugar, chocolate and milk, or of brown sugar and milk, and cooked a slightly shorter time than if we were making fudge or penuche.

ableness of the wash materials that go to make up the new showings. By the way, had you heard that gingham is making style-high fashion news for spring and summer? Not only are little girls wearing it with their usual enthusiasm for this ever attractive and colorful wash weave, but mother and big sister are ordering tailored suits made of it, for fashion decrees gingham as fashionable to wear about town, at the club and to bridge parties or wherever you go during the active rounds of the day. Gingham also is the "pet" of the teen-age for party and prom evening frocks.

Speaking of frocks for party wear, when you go fabric-seeking be sure to look over the showings of cloque organdies.

© Western Newspaper Union.

In another group belong the frostings made with egg whites, sugar and water. For the old fashioned boiled frosting, the sugar and water are cooked together until a thick syrup develops. This is then folded slowly into the well beaten egg whites.

Fillings are generally considered with frostings, because they are particularly good when put between layers of cake. Cakes of this sort are sometimes known as Boston or Boston cream pies. When they are topped with a frosting, however, they are generally known as cream cakes.

Seven Minute Frosting.

2 egg whites, unbeaten
1½ cups sugar
5 tablespoons water
1½ teaspoons corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
Whole nuts

Put unbeaten egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg beater until sugar is dissolved. Place over boiling water, beating constantly with egg beater, and cook seven minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire. Add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Frost each layer, put layers together and decorate top layer with whole nuts.

Caramel Frosting

1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
1½ cups granulated sugar
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons butter

Combine sugars and milk and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil, without stirring, until a small amount of the mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees Fahrenheit). Add butter and remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm. Beat until thick and creamy and of right consistency to spread.

Chocolate Frosting.

2 tablespoons butter
2 cups of confectioners' sugar
4 egg yolks
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 squares chocolate, melted.

Cream butter, add sugar and a little beaten egg yolk to cream well. Add rest of beaten egg yolks, milk, vanilla and chocolate. Place bowl in pan of ice water and beat with rotary egg beater until thick enough to spread.

When you want a well-flavored, delicious, economy meat dish, don't overlook the possibilities which beef short ribs afford.

bit extravagant in buying two or three pairs.

● Speaking of Mother's Day, Milo's Market, the big modern food store at the top of the hill, has all the makings of a Grand Dinner, including fresh roasting ducks! Just to go into Milo's attractive food mart, piled high with colorful fruits and vegetables, fresh sea foods, thick steaks, and high quality groceries starts us being poetic. But to get very hard-headed about it all, have you noticed in this week's ad that large loin lamb chops are only 15c a pound, fresh deep sea skate fish 10c a pound, pork & beans 5c a can, and combination vegetable and fruit specials 25c.

● Speaking of specials, Edward's Drug Store has one this week that you can't afford to pass up—a 1c sale of Cashmere Bouquet hand lotion. You pay only 36c, and get two regular size bottles. Which you will admit is a blessing, and one not in disguise either.

● The Cut-Rate Market has some immense red strawberries this week that look just like a picture in a magazine. The shortcake we made with them looked so luscious that we really hated to eat it—that is, until we began! And speaking of bargains, don't forget that sugar is ten pounds for 47c in there this week-end, not to mention their guaranteed fresh eggs, large extras, at only 23½c a dozen.

● Around the corner at the Philosophy Store we found just what we had been looking for to give our family a change—some little yellow crooked-neck squashes. We also found some lovely egg-plant.

● Down at the Westlake Market we stocked up on fresh vitamins for the family. We always marvel at the way Westlake Market fruits and vegetables keep that dewy, early-morning look.

● Lucca Ravioli company always inspires us to flights of oratory. If you think we're silly, just go into this Epicurean Paradise and find out for yourself. While you're admiring, don't forget that new crop Imperial Valley tomatoes are only 20c for a five pound basket, that Del Monte tomato sauce is 3 cans for 10c, and that Italian type Vermouth is selling for 99c a gallon.

● Speaking of a Paradise, if you can't think what to give Mother for Mother's Day, try Byrne's Radio Store. There you will find a thousand and one practical and lovely gifts at any price you want to pay.

● At the Mission Creamery we learned of the Last Word in creamery service. It seems that the modern milkman will deliver to your door not only Grade-A milk, but also ranch eggs, cottage cheese, chocolate milk, or orange juice! What are cows coming to these days?

● We know it's pretty early to start announcing this, but we can't resist telling you that we have an extra-special date for

Ribbon Ruffles to Trim Chanel Suit

Chanel trims a superb dressy suit with applique of tiny ribbon ruffles, around the collar, down the front, and around the lower edge of the jacket and sleeves. The jacket doesn't meet, so a sparkling white gilet shows at the front. The skirt is slightly gathered and has a row of ribbon applique down the front.

From Molyneux comes a suit that combines a rose-colored box jacket with a skirt of soft brown. The jacket has revers and pockets of brown.
